

The Focus of the February 27th Prayer Conference Call

Pastor Jeff Rogers - Matthew 16:15

- Who do you say Jesus is? Let the church consistently bring a fresh Revelation of Jesus, the Christ; that the city may see clearly the Lord. Let us love one another.
- The Gates of hell shall not prevail against the Church. Set the captives free.
- Let our testimony be of His Glory and Power.

Dr. Hernando Caicedo - Ephesians 2:1-4

We are facing multitude of crises in this nation and around the world. Each day that passes brings with it a gloomy picture of the decadent condition of the human race.

- We must remember at all times to approach God with humility in reverence for His grace in taking us out from where we were when He rescued us; and also because of our sinful nature we still are prone to sin intentionally, occasionally or deliberately by commission or omission.
- We must always have our minds filled with praises centered on Christ for only through Him we can approach the throne of god with the confidence and certainty that He hears our prayers not because we deserve that our prayers be heard, but because we have a direct relationship with him because of Christ.
- We must be grateful to Jesus and love Him enough to make Him ruler of our lives, so that only He occupies our minds and hearts to keep us safe from the enemy and the temptations of the world.
- If Jesus ruler of our lives, we must be obedient to Him and keep His commands, so that we do not give opportunities nor open any doors to the ruler of the kingdom of the air.
- We must remember that we are commissioned and empowered to share the gospel of Jesus Christ so that others may receive eternal life and the gifts that He has given to us freely, so that they may also learn to live their lives according to His standard and example of selfless love and compassion towards everybody.
- Since we were made alive in Christ, we must strive each day to live in such a way, that we resemble more and more His glory, His mercy, and His love.

Bishop Bobby Holmes - Nehemiah 1:4; 2:14

- Let's us weep and fast and be careful to seek the Lord as to what to petition of Him.
- Release the compassion of the King's heart. Honor God always as we stand in the Gates of the city. Help us dear Lord to build the walls of this city.
- The Lord is great and terrible. Our strength is in Him. Break the burden of worriness over the gate keepers.
